

Gene Center Newsletter January 2008

Computational Biology Symposium

For Tuesday, January 15 from 9 am to 1 pm we have organized a symposium on computational biology. The symposium will take place in the lecture hall and will feature 8 junior scientists in this exciting new field. There will be a large range of topics covered, from molecular prediction to genetic network analysis. Everybody is welcome!

International Seminar Series

A number of seminars for 2008 has been scheduled. Upcoming speakers include K. Neugebauer, Susan Gasser, and Tom Kunkel and Wei Yang from the US. Please visit <http://141.84.46.11/mainframes/seminars.htm> from time to time for an updated list of upcoming seminars.

LMU excellent office for research cooperation and technology transfer

From January 2008, the Gene Center hosts the Grosshadern outstation of the LMU office for research cooperation and technology transfer, represented by Barbara Blaurock.

Annual Retreat 2008

This year's annual retreat will be on April 25-27, 2008 at Wildbad-Kreuth. Please mark your agendas.

SFB646 evaluation symposium

The evaluation talks of the Sonderforschungsbereich 646 will take place on Monday, June 23.

Ringberg-Meeting 2009

The next Ringberg-Meeting will take place January 7-9, 2009.

Newsletter of the Gene Center Munich, <http://www.lmb.uni-muenchen.de>